

Posted Online: Posted online: August 9, 2007 3:22 PM
Print publication date: 08/10/2007

Letter: Steps under way to restore Q-C, Chicago rail service

Restoring passenger rail service between the Quad-Cities and Chicago is a long-standing community goal. Positive new steps to make such service a reality are being taken through the Quad Cities Passenger Rail Coalition.

Our state and national elected officials should get all our enthusiastic encouragement as they assist in making the passenger connection happen.

A convenient timetable of service to and from Chicago would add another great benefit to existing Quad City employers. And, it would be another positive attribute the Quad City Development Group and its economic development partners could utilize when working to attract and foster growth in the Quad City region.

John Gardner
President and CEO
Quad City Development Group